WSOC CAMPUS

Must be potty-trained

The early years of a child's life, full of wonder and joy, are also the most critical years of development. Our play-based program with healthy rhythms of the day fosters the natural unfolding of a child's capacity for socialization, connection, and independence. The practical activities in our home-like environment allow children to meet their stage of development while they love to imitate what is around them and do "real" work alongside their warm, loving teachers. The practical activities offered in the nursery program give children the opportunity to be part of a community to bake bread together, chop vegetables, wash dishes, care for the hens and goats, and more. Our program with a healthy balance of indoor and outdoor activities awaits your child to splash in the puddles, dig in the mud, and dance in the sunshine.

WSOC CAMPUS

The early years of a child's life, full of wonder and joy, are also the most critical years of development. Our play-based program with healthy rhythms of the day fosters the natural unfolding of a child's capacity for socialization, connection, and independence. The practical activities in our home-like environment allow children to meet their stage of development while they love to imitate what is around them and do "real" work alongside their warm, loving teachers.

Our Playgroup and Bridge camps are designed for parents and children to attend together. While students are enjoying story, circle and play time, caregivers will work together on a special craft. This handmade item will be a beautiful keepsake, for you to keep, of our week together.

WSOC celebrates the riches of a child's imagination. In our Early Childhood camp, simplicity is key. Toys are crafted of natural materials and feature beautiful colors and textures to encourage, but not overstimulate, the senses. There is a rhythm each day. We are helping your child build a strong foundation from the ground up. A Waldorf classroom is a sanctuary honoring the notion that a child's play is their truest work.

"Play is the royal road to childhood happiness and adult brilliance." - Joseph Chilton Pearce

Batik

HOLLY RICHARDS & ANDREA CROZIER

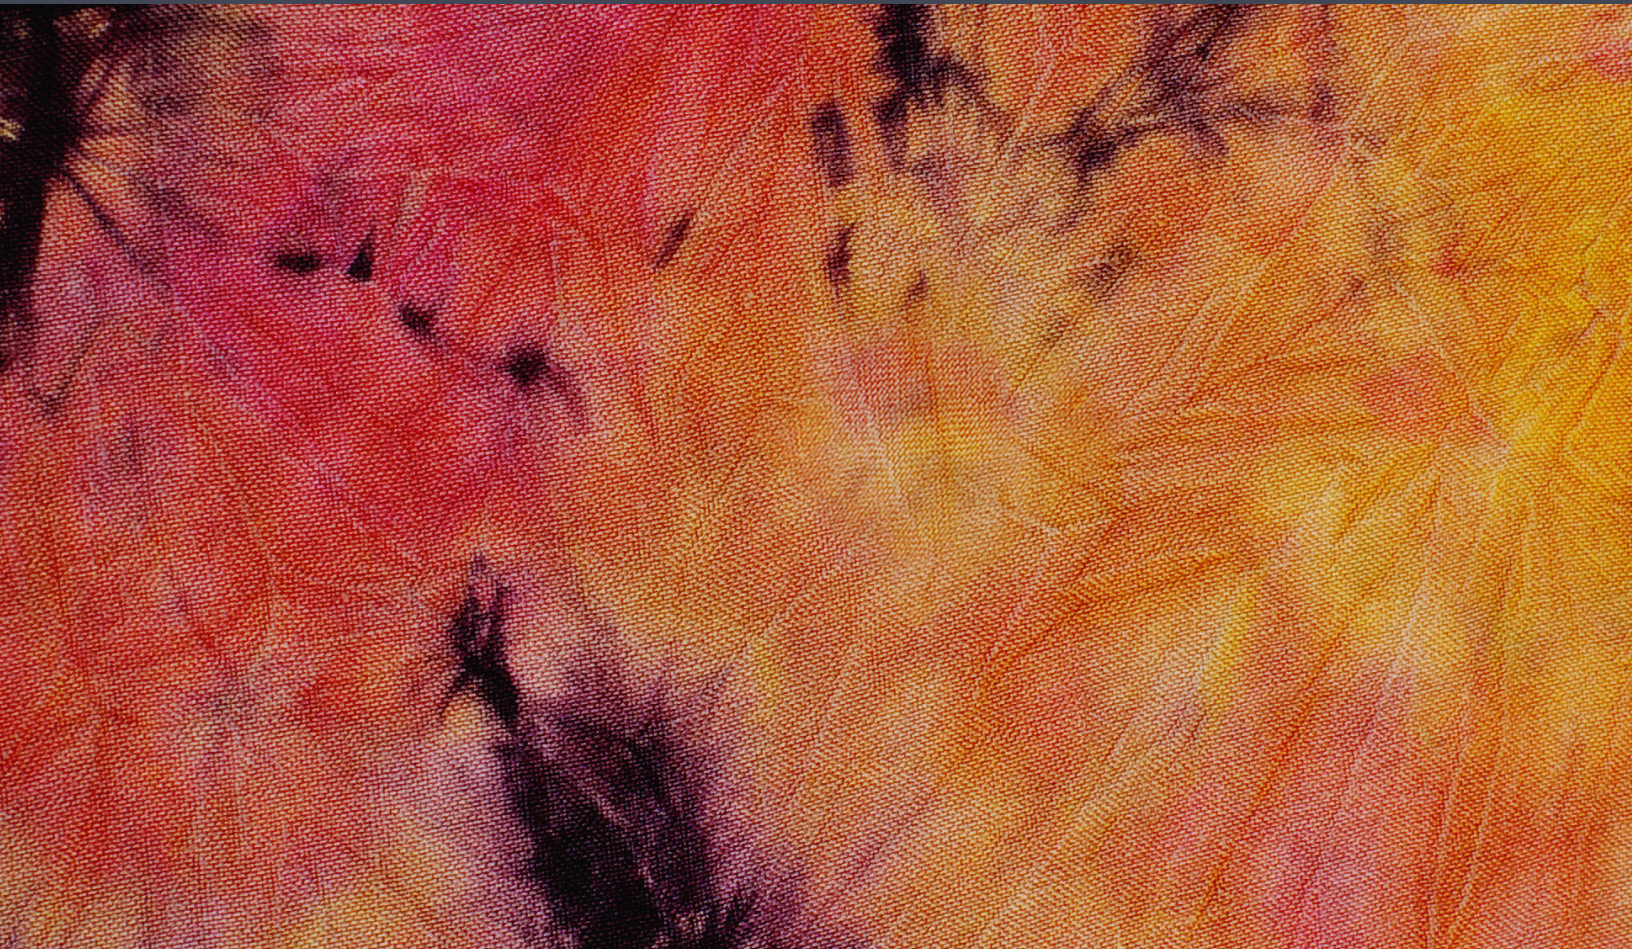

9AM - 1PM

JULY 5 - 8 | GRADES 6 - 12

WSOC CAMPUS

Batik art is a textile technique that uses wax and dye to create beautiful patterns on fabric. Originally from the island of Java in Indonesia, the technique of batik painting goes back to at least the 12th century. While similar in appearance to tie-dying, the process for how to batik is a bit more complex, with hot wax applied to fabric prior to dye application and then removed. This method is known as dye resistance, with the wax serving to shield certain areas from being exposed to the dye for a varied, crinkled look upon completion.

Join us to learn how to make Batik cloth for clothing, décor or accessories of any kind. The week-long process allows for social engagement while working and fostering each others' creativity. No prior experience necessary.

WRITING WORKSHOP

KRISTEN KUCZENSKI

AUGUST 1 - 5 | GRADES 6 - 8

9 AM - 1 PM

WSOC CAMPUS

The word “sentence” comes from an old Latin word, “sentire,” which means to feel. How do writers use the senses to feel their ways into deliciously specific sentences? In this writing workshop, we’ll draw inspiration from food, music, fragrance, and color as well as from stories and poems that make different senses come alive on the page.

We’ll explore strategies to build clarity in our writing while playing with creative word-wondering tools like etymologies and color dictionaries. We’ll find our own favorite sentences and learn how to create the same effects in our writing. Lastly, we’ll practice stringing sentences into powerful paragraphs and even stitching our paragraphs into conversation with other paragraphs (our own or those of others!) by using transitions. Time will be devoted to reading, discussion, writing experiments, and group games that embody the bridge between senses and sentences.
