Waldorf Education

Waldorf Education is based on educator and philosopher Rudolf Steiner's (1861-1925) research on child development. The Waldorf approach recognizes the simple but profound insight that children learn in distinctly different ways at different stages of their development. Waldorf teachers are dedicated to teaching in ways that profoundly meet the needs of the developing human being, and the curriculum fosters an unfolding of the student's natural capacities. In classrooms filled with light and life, Waldorf students learn traditional academic subjects through distinctive and time-tested teaching methods that serve their intellectual, physical, emotional, and spiritual development. Engaging the hands, heart, and mind cultivates an inner enthusiasm for learning.

Waldorf Education speaks to the body, heart, and soul, as well as the mind. The academically challenging curriculum is balanced by a program rich in music, drama, fine and applied arts, movement and practical skills. Grounded in the classics, academic courses expose students to the great ideas of mankind, the events that shaped civilizations, the beauty of mathematics, the power of the arts, and the wonder of the natural world. Every student participates in all subjects. The scientist experiences the joy of creating music. The musician explores the physical and natural laws of the sciences. The artist discovers the practical aspects of calculus. Rather than turning out specialists at the age of eighteen, the school graduates well-rounded and capable students who are confident in their ability to learn from the world, and to contribute to the world.
